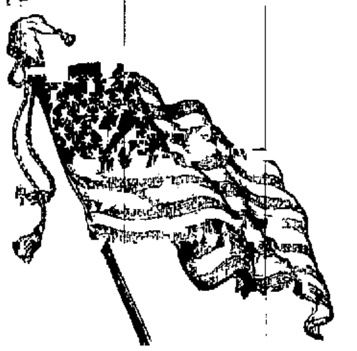
OFFICIAL PAPER OF THE CITY



No flag but the Old Flag,—the Red, White and Blue
With the stars of a Union unbroken and true
Arise and defend it [illegible]
Whoso'll to doubt it [illegible]

TUESDAY MORNING, JUNE 24, 1862

Mean !

The Union County Convention, which was held at Vancouver, W. T., last Saturday, was addressed by Mr Garfield, of Olympia, under these circumstances. Mr Garfield came to Vancouver by accident, (?) just before the Convention, and was invited by the Union men to make a speech. Well knowing the character of the convention, that it was not in any sense a party organization, and that its only object was opposition to secessionists, he accepted the invitation. His speech was a digest of all the secession arguments since the days of Calhoun. The only difference between Breckinridge's great treasonable effort on his taking leave of the Senate, and Garfield's of last Saturday, is that the former was avowedly opposed to the Government while the latter wears the livery of loyalty.

The only three points which he endeavored to reach, logically, were that States have a right to secede; that every man has a right to judge for himself whether a law is constitutional or not, and if he thinks it is not constitutional, he has the right to refuse to obey it; and that the present President of the United States is a tyrant and usurper, and his supporters are a horde of reckless desperadoes. Although his talent for sophistry is proverbial he could not conceal the fact that he is unequivocally in the interest of the secessionists. The rest of his speech was made up chiefly of truisms from the first volume of Blackstone's Commentaries, and amounted simply to the statement that, we have to compromise away a portion of our national rights in order to secure the residue. This was intended, of course, for a God bless you to the "dear people." Garfield is a candidate for Delegate to Congress, and is doubtless "going up and down in the land" to make buncombe speeches for next year. He will find, however, that disunion can find but small support in Washington Territory.

Col Steinberger, with Major Lugenbeel, and other officers, went up to the Cascades on the Julia, last week to ascertain if there were means to transport some three or four companies of troops over the Cascade Portage. They found that at present this cannot be done. It appears that some three companies or more of troops will be sent as soon as possible from Vancouver, to relieve the California Volunteers at Forts Colville and Walla Walla—who will probably return home.

A large number of Germans are about to emigrate to the United States and will settle in Illinois, Wisconsin and Minnesota. This immigrating party consists principally of wealthy land owners, and among them are several barons. About twenty thousand acres of land have already been purchased for them in the three States named, and it is expected they will arrive by the middle of July.

A Thousand Plow Patents.—The New York World says: "It may surprise many of the multitude who use plows, as well as those who do not, to learn that about one thousand patents have been issued for alleged improvements in plows since the foundation of the American Government. About two thirds of these patents have been granted since the year 1847."

The friends of Astoria are making strong efforts to bring that point into public notice, and hope eventually to make it the stopping place for the ocean steamers, which the people of Portland are flattering themselves that no rival can successfully compete with this city. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Tables Turned.—Huntsville, Alabama, now held by Federal troops, is the home of L. P. Walker, late rebel Secretary of War, who predicted on the fall of Sumter that the rebel flag would wave over Faneuil Hall. Instead, the Stars and Stripes float in triumph over his own town.

The Sacramento Union's special from Salt Lake City says that the Mormons suggest that Congress had better build a [illegible] the whole valley to serve as a penitentiary for those who shall be found guilty of violating the late enacted polygamy law.

Homestead Bill.—[illegible] the Homestead bill, which lately became a law, extend to all the military and naval service of the United States, whether naturalized or not. Settlers on tracts of forty acres bordering on Government lands can take enough to complete their section.

Brilliant Exploit of the Varuna

From the reports of the passage of the Mississippi river forts by Commodore Farragut's squadron it appears that the [illegible] gunboat Varuna bore the brunt of [illegible] engagement [illegible] of the brilliant action is from a letter written by Captain Boggs [illegible] to his wife:

We started at [illegible] the first fire at [illegible] My vessel was the [illegible] [illegible]

During the [illegible] finding more steamers ahead [illegible] was leaking [illegible] But thus [illegible] last. As I saw the Oneida [illegible] with a rifled stern [illegible] The latter [illegible] coming up the river [illegible] [illegible] down and [illegible] rammed me [illegible] and attempted to board. But [illegible] him. During a guard [illegible] severely, but in these efforts [illegible] vulnerable side and I [illegible] a couple of broadsides into him that crippled his engines and set him on fire. He dropped off, and as he moved slowly up the river and passed me, I gave him my final parting broadside.

I now found my ship on fire from his shell, and it was with great difficulty that it was put out. Just then another [illegible] down and struck heavily on my [illegible] quarter, and [illegible] This [illegible] blow crashed in my [illegible] the same instant I gave him a full [illegible] of shot and shell that drove him ashore and in flames. Finding myself in a sinking condition I ran my bow into the bank [illegible] my wounded, still keeping up my fire on my first opponent who [illegible] his flag. My last gun was fired as the [illegible] went under water. No time to save anything, the officers and crew escaping with [illegible] [illegible] the crews cheering as they [illegible] went down with her flag flying, [illegible] defeat and covered with glory.

I think we have [illegible] is [illegible] by this squadron [illegible] Manassas sunk by the Mississippi. [illegible] been a gallant fight—no less than one hundred and twenty guns playing on us. The [illegible] cut off from succor, and must soon surrender. The way to New Orleans is open, and the city is probably ours at this moment—for the fleet immediately passed up the river. [illegible] my only remaining boat with a picked crew from the Varuna [illegible] Butler. Having been in the [illegible] twenty six hours after such a [illegible] work, you may imagine I am somewhat exhausted. What my next post [illegible] I do not know—perhaps to go home for a [illegible] ship. [He has got it.] Or possibly to become naval aid to Major General Butler.

The Recapture of the English St. Pierre.—The affair of the English vessel St. Pierre, captured off Charleston, S. C., under suspicious circumstances, and retaken from the prize crew placed on board her and carried into Liverpool, the New York Times seems to think will give rise at least to some diplomatic correspondence between this country and England. The following are stated to be the reasons for this opinion:

"The captain of the St. Pierre [illegible] in maritime law [illegible] [illegible] Court [illegible] [illegible] But [illegible] a neutral [illegible] hesitation. While this [illegible] [illegible] fact that, after an act of war [illegible] confining and wounding of the officer in charge of the vessel—a lieutenant [illegible] of the American navy [illegible] [illegible] the transaction [illegible] an exceedingly neat little [illegible] it will require from England [illegible] complete and satisfactory as that we [illegible] rendered in the instance of the [illegible] the right of [illegible] suspicious and unprepared, [illegible] may freely [illegible] But the [illegible] is will demand a very [illegible]

Constancy.—An instance of [illegible] fidelity is thus narrated by a Chicago correspondent of the Boston Transcript: [illegible] Mrs. Pock, the wife of Lieut. [illegible] Chicago, who was killed at Shiloh, [illegible] to find her husband's body [illegible] when she arrived [illegible] where her husband's [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the field where he [illegible] grave. She consulted [illegible] the body of her husband [illegible] [illegible] the side of the [illegible] and remained with him till [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] the arrival [illegible]

New Ballad of Lord Lovell.

Lord Lovell he sat in St. Charles's Hotel,
In St. Charles's Hotel sat he,
As fine a case of a Southern swell
As ever you'd wish to see—see—see—
As ever you'd wish to see.

Lord Lovell the town had vowed to defend,
A-waving his sword on high;
He swore that his rations of powder he'd spend,
And in the last ditch he'd die.

He swore by black and he swore by blue,
He swore by the stars and bars,
That never he'd fly from a Yankee crew
While he was a son of Mars.

He had fifty thousand gallant men,
Fifty thousand men had he,
Who had all sworn with him that they'd never surren-
Der to any tarnation Yankee.

He had forts that no Yankee alive could take,
He had iron-clad boats a score,
And batteries all around the lake
And along the river shore.

Sir Farragut came with a mighty fleet,
With a mighty fleet came he,
And Lord Lovell instanter began to retreat
Before the first boat he could see.

His fifty thousand gallant men
Ran down to thousands six;
They heard a distant cannon and then
Commenced to cut their sticks!

"Oh tarry, Lord Lovell!" Sir Farragut cried,
"Oh tarry, Lord Lovell," said he;
"I rather think not," Lord Lovell replied,
"For I'm in a great hurry."

"I like the drinks at St. Charles's Hotel,
But I never could bear strong Porter,
Especially when it's served in a shell,
Or mixed in an iron mortar."

"I reckon you're right," Sir Farragut said,
"I reckon you're right," said he,
"For if my Porter should fly to your head,
A terrible smash there'd be."

Oh! a wonder it was to see them run,
A wonderful thing to see,
And the Yankees sailed up without shooting a gun,
And captured their great citie.

Lord Lovell kept running all day and night,
Lord Lovell a running kept he,
For he swore he couldn't abide the sight
Of the gun of a live Yankee.

When Lord Lovell's life was brought to a close,
By a sharp shooting Yankee gunner,
From his head there sprouted a red red nose
From his feet—a scarlet Runner.

IRISH EMIGRATION.—The Cork (Ireland) Examiner says the emigration to America, notwithstanding the civil war raging here, is greater at present than it was in the corresponding period last year.

Hon. B. F. Harding, of Salem, is the proposed corporator for Oregon, of the Pacific Railroad.

☞ Coughs.—The sudden changes of our climate are sources of PULMONARY, BRONCHIAL, and ASTHMATIC AFFECTIONS. Experience having proved that simple remedies often act speedily and certainly when taken in the early stages of the disease, recourse should at once be had to "Brown's Bronchial Troches," or Lozenges, let the Cold, Cough, or Irritation of the Throat be ever so slight, as by this precaution a more serious attack may be effectually warded off. Public SPEAKERS and SINGERS will find them effectual for clearing and strengthening the voice. See advertisement.

Now that we were fairly in the mountains, our real troubles began. Three days since we had crossed this range, and having shortly before made the passage of the great Canon Creek, a terrific pass, the trail had not appeared more dangerous than usual. But then we had leisure and daylight to guide us: now, the white metallic light of the moon, which brought out in startling distinctness each crag and rocky point it fell upon, left many dangerous bits of our path in deep obscurity, yet we were compelled to pass over them in full career, for our pursuers now began to push us to their utmost. At intervals, above the clatter of our horses' iron-shod hoofs, the mountains behind us echoed with their whoops, and were replied to from the hights around by the peculiar cry of the white owl, proceeding, as we were aware, from red sentinels, who were able to observe each turn of the chase, and thus urged their comrades still to follow.—Urged by their wild riders to the top of their speed, the hardy unshod little mustangs of our enemies scrambled after us over the dangerous trail with a cat-like facility of hold not possessed by our own cattle. To add to our embarrassments, our third horse now began to show a desire to stray from the trail, and forced us often to lose ground by swerving to head him back again. In fact, it was all we could do to hold our own, and, desperately as our desperate need required it, we pushed on. The steep mountain side, the other day painfully ascended, was now dashed furiously down; the edge of the precipice usually traversed so gingerly was spurred fiercely over, unheeding the appeals of our terrified horses, who quivered and snorted in very fear. Without drawing bridle, we spattered through the mountain torrent that ran down the deep gulches, and took flying the smaller streams. When the last weary mountain crest was topped, and we descended again to the wooded plain beneath, I should have felt myself comparatively safe had it not been for the deplorable condition of our horses. As Kit had foreseen, the mountain range had fearfully tried them. Though my mare, with the instinct of good blood, still answered when I made a call to her, I felt she was getting fast used up; but the chestnut was in a still worse plight; his drooping crest and laboring stride told the extremity of his distress. We had just arrived at the ford of Slate creek, a small arm of Rogue river, when Kit's chestnut suddenly staggered, and then plunged headlong to the ground. "Four white legs and a white nose, cut his throat and throw him to the crows!" exclaimed his rider, bitterly repeating the old saw as he vainly endeavored to raise him. Meanwhile, I had ridden forward and caught the loose horse. Kit mounted him in silence, and together we entered the ford, but just before we reached the opposite bank, he dismounted, and standing knee-deep in the water, put his rein into his hand.

"Mate," he said, "we're bound to part company, if we don't want to go under; take both animals and make tracks for Van Noy; this coon'll look out for hisself, somehow. Good by t'ye!" And he set off wading down the creek.

I brought my horses to his side in a moment. "No, no, Kit," I said, deeply touched by his generous proposition; "fight or fly, whichever it is, we'll keep together."

"Don't rile me, young feller," he replied, in a voice that he vainly endeavored to render harsh, and abandoned for a tone of earnest entreaty; "I tell 'ee we must part now—it can't be fixed noways different. That thar light animal 'ud burst under my weight long afore we made Rogue river, and yourn ain't got two mile run left in him; he ain't. Now, look h'yar, if yew want to save our skins, take both them animals, it'll throw the Indians off my trail, and ride hard for Van Noy. Rouse up the boys thar, and tell 'em Kit Butler from Boonville's cached in the timber by Slate crick, and the redskins are out. Guess they'll be round with their shootin'-irons, and bring me in right away. Hurrah now, boy!"

A moment's reflection convinced me that Kit's plan was the only only that could possibly save us, but it was with a bitterness of heart such as I had never felt before, that I shook his loyal hand—I could not speak—in token that I bade him farewell. If I acted wrongly in abandoning him, God knows that my own reflections as I put out on my lonely trail, were almost punishment enough.

But, in reality, Kit's chances of escape were not far from being as good as my own. The plain, especially by the creek, was well wooded, so that our separation took place entirely without the knowledge of the Indians, who, though they would certainly find the foundered chesnut, would naturally conclude that its rider was away on the fresh horse. Neither would they gain any information from the hunter's tracks, for, of course, he had taken the precaution to wade some distance down the creek before he rached in the timber, and water leaves no trail. But I could not reason on all this then. I could only remember that I had left the last and best of all my comrades behind me, and that if evil came to him I should be held accountable. Deeply plunged in such maddening reflections, I had not ridden far, when the report of a rifle in my rear almost caused my heart to stand still.

(To be concluded.)

Effects of the Mortar Firing.—A Pittsburger on one of the mortar boats on the Mississippi gives the following account of the effects of the firing:

To give you an idea of the concussion caused by the discharge of the mortars, I will tell you the effects it had on some things of my own. I had all of my clothes in a strong box, placed in the hold of a mortar boat. After two or three discharges of the mortar, the box was shattered to pieces and my clothes scattered over the hold. It even broke the straps of my knapsack, and scattered the contents. My cap was blown overboard and lost. The windows of a tugboat a quarter of a mile distant were broken. As for the effect on myself, it made me almost as deaf as a post, and I feel a continual ringing in my ears. Two days later he adds: The firing of the mortar has ceased to have any effect on me, and I have entirely recovered from the deafness first occasioned by it.

SEWING MACHINES

ARE UNEQUALLED BY ANY FOR

BEAUTY AND SIMPLICITY OF CONSTRUCTION

—AND—

Efficiency in Working.

A GOOD SEWING MACHINE

SHOULD BE WELL MADE, simple in its construction, and easily kept in order; should make a strong even stitch, alike on both sides of the material, and should sew any and all materials that can be sewed.

It should be able to use cotton, thread, or silk, directly from the spool, and to sew from coarse to fine, and from thick to thin, with rapidity, and without changing the tension. It should also be able to make the tension greater or less, on both the under and upper threads, and with uniformity; and should have a straight needle, curved ones being liable to break.

The needle should have perpendicular motion—this is absolutely necessary for heavy work.

It should be able to bind with a binder, hem with a hemmer; should stitch, fell, run and gather; and should be always ready to work.

It should be capable of using the same size thread on both sides of the work, and of using different colored thread or silk above or below, to correspond with any two colors of cloth to be united.

It should be able to make a long or short stitch; and to fasten off the seam, and commence sewing tightly at the first stitch, and to run easily, and make but little noise.

It should have a wheel-feed; no others are in constant contact with the work.

It should not be liable to get out of order; neither should it require a screw-driver or wrench to set the needle.

It should not be liable to oil the operator's dress.

It should not form a ridge on the under side, nor ravel.

DR. L. J. CZAPKAY'S

Private Medical & Surgical Institute,

SACRAMENTO STREET, BELOW MONTGOMERY.
Opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Company's Office, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED IN 1854 FOR THE PERMANENT cure of all Chronic and Private Diseases, and the SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY. Attending and Resident Physician, L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., Late in the Hungarian Revolutionary War; Chief Physician to the 20th Regiment of Honveds; Chief Surgeon to the Military Hospital of Pesth, Hungary; the late Lecturer on Diseases of the Genito-Urinary Organs, and Diseases of Women and Children, and Honorary Member of the Philadelphia College of Medicine.

Particular attention paid to the treatment of diseases peculiar to Women and Children.

Office Hours—From 9 A. M. to 9 P. M.

Communications strictly confidential. Permanent cure guaranteed, or no pay. Consultations, by letter or otherwise, FREE.

Address, DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, San Francisco.

Of all diseases, the first great cause,
Springs from neglect of Nature's laws.

To the Afflicted:

Suffer not when a cure is guaranteed in all stages of secret disease—Self-Abuse, Nervous Debility, Syphilis in all its stages, Strictures, Gleet, Gravel, Diabetes, diseases of the Kidney and Bladder, Mercurial Rheumatism, Scrofula, Pains in the Bones and Ankles, diseases of the Lungs, Throat, Nose and Eyes, Ulcers upon the Body or Limbs, Cancers, Dropsy, Epileptic Fits, St. Vitus Dance—and all diseases arising from a derangement of the sexual organs—such as Nervous Trembling, Loss of Memory, Loss of Power, General Weakness, Dimness of Vision, with peculiar spots appearing before the eyes, Loss of Sight, Wakefulness, Dyspepsia, Liver Disease, Eruptions upon the Face, Pains in the Back and Head, Female Irregularities—and all improper discharges of both sexes. It matters not from what cause the disease originated, however long standing or obstinate the case, recovery is certain, and in a shorter time than a permanent cure can be effected by any other treatment, even after the disease has baffled the skill of eminent physicians and resisted all their means of cure. The medicines prescribed are pleasant, without odor, entirely vegetable, causing no sickness, and free from mercury or balsam. During fifteen years of practice in Europe, the Atlantic States and California, I have rescued from the jaws of death many thousands, who, in the last stages of the above mentioned diseases, had been given up to die by their physicians, which warrants me in promising to the afflicted, who may place themselves under my care, a speedy and permanent cure. Private diseases are the greatest enemies to health, as they are the first cause of consumption, scrofula, and many other diseases, and should be a terror to the human family. A permanent cure is scarcely ever effected—a majority of cases falling into the hands of incompetent persons, who not only fail to cure the disease but ruin the constitution, filling the system with mercury, which, with the disease hastens the sufferer into a rapid consumption. But should the disease and the treatment not cause death speedily, and the victim marries, the disease is entailed upon the children, who are born with feeble constitutions, and the current of life corrupted by a virus which betrays itself in scrofula, tetter, ulcers, eruptions and other affections of the skin, eyes, throat and lungs, entailing upon them a brief existence of suffering, and consigning them to an early grave.

Self-abuse is another formidable enemy to health, for nothing else in the dread catalogue of human diseases causes so destructive a drain upon the system, drawing its thousands of victims through a few years of suffering down to an untimely grave. It destroys the nervous system, rapidly wastes away the energies of life, causes mental derangement, prevents the proper development of the system, disqualifies for marriage, society, business, and all earthly happiness, and leaves the sufferer wrecked in body and mind, predisposed to consumption and a train of evils more to be dreaded than death itself. With the fullest confidence I assure the unfortunate victims of self-abuse, that a permanent and speedy cure can be effected, and with the abandonment of ruinous practices, my patients can be restored to robust, vigorous health.

Irregularities and all diseases of males and females, treated on principles established by fifteen years of practice, and sanctioned by thousands of the most remarkable cures. Medicines with full directions sent to any part of the State, Oregon and Washington Territory, by patients communicating their symptoms by letter.

All business correspondence strictly confidential. Address DR. L. J. CZAPKAY, M. D., Sacramento street, below Montgomery, opposite Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office, San Francisco.

Remarkable Instances of Medical Relief

Below we publish the certificates of three of the sufferers from the pangs of disease, who, having recovered their former health, are impelled by gratitude, to make known their cases and remedial agent, and their statements are authenticated by a Notary Public. Thousands of society [illegible] their publicity, and we commend their perusal to the attention of all afflicted.

Certificate.—The undersigned, desirous of acquainting those who may be unfortunate enough to be similarly afflicted, where a permanent relief of their sufferings may be obtained, feels it his duty to thus publicly express his most sincere gratitude to Dr. L. J. Czapkay, for the permanent recovery of his health. Borne down by the distressing symptoms incident to the vicious practice of uncontrollable passion in youth, depressed in body and mind, unable to perform even the most trifling duties imposed upon the ordinary avocations of life, I sought the advice of many professional men, who at first regarded my disease as of trifling importance. But alas! after a few weeks, and in several instances months of their treatment, I found my condition no better, that instead of relief, the symptoms became more alarming in their torture, and being told by one that my disease was principally confined to the brain, medicine would be of little consequence, I despaired of ever regaining my health, strength and energy; and as a last resort, and with but a faint hope, called upon Dr. Czapkay, who, after examining my case, prescribed some medicine which almost instantly relieved me of the dull pain and dizziness in my head. Encouraged by this result, I placed myself immediately under his care, and by a strict attendance to all his directions and advice, my health rapidly improved, and my pleasures affected, the constant pain in my back, and groans of [illegible] weakness of my limbs, the nervous reaction of my whole body on the slightest alarm or excitement, the misanthropic and evil forebodings, the self-distrust and want of confidence in others, the incapability to study, and want of resolution, the frightful, exciting, and at times pleasurable dreams at night, followed by involuntary discharges, have all disappeared, and in fact, in two months after having consulted the doctor, I felt as if inspired by a new life—that life which but a short time ago I contemplated to end by my own hand. With the view to guard the unfortunate from falling into the snares of incompetent quacks, I deem it my duty to offer this testimony to the merit and skill of Dr. Czapkay, and recommend him to all who may stand in need of medical advice, being assured by my own experience, that once under his care a radical and permanent cure will be effected.

B. F. FILLMORE.

State of California, County of San Francisco:
Subscribed and sworn to before me, this seventh day of April, A. D. 1856. Signed
[L. S.] JOHN MIDDLETON, Notary Public.

MARYSVILLE, June 3d, 1858.

Dr. L. J. Czapkay, San Francisco—Sir: I have used the last of your medicine, and do not think I shall need any more, as I feel very well, except that I have not entirely got my strength yet, but soon will with the appetite I have. It is just three weeks, you may recollect, since I called at your institute, with my constitution, as I thought, broken entirely, and never thought you would be able to cure me perfectly, but thought you might be able to do something to ease the pain in my back and head, and strengthen my nerves so that I would not get excited and tremble at everything. Now that you know what I expected, you may judge of my satisfaction at my complete recovery from those symptoms, and the removal of those sores and blotches from my skin, and the ulcers from my throat, and the entire stoppage of those emissions, which you said were principally the cause of my sickness. I can hardly tell you which is the greatest, my joy or my surprise, for except not having fully got my strength, I feel as well as any man can feel.

Enclosed I send you twenty dollars over your charge, and think myself cheaply cured. If you think anybody will be benefitted, you may put this letter in the newspapers. Believe me gratefully yours, THOMAS HAYDEN.

Thankfulness is the incentive to gratitude.

Certificate.—Prompted by an honest desire of my heart, I wish to lay before the public a case which deserves a commendation not only as an act of scientific skill, but that of humanity also. About two years ago, I suddenly, and from causes unknown to me, was seized with a fit of epilepsy, which, owing to my inability to meet the expenses consequent upon a thorough medical treatment, and the discouragement which I met with on attempting it, soon became such as I was then led to believe as to defy the skill of any physician. I was frequently, while in pursuit of my calling, thrown down to the ground without the slightest warning, and although this malady to the agonies, I yet despised the incentives of my life, and soon learned to look upon those who would render assistance or shelter me from danger as enemies who sought to prolong the existence of my miseries. While in this state, and having, previous to my affliction, tasted the sweets of life, I once more was induced to attempt a recovery, and a physician, and by recommendation, called upon Dr. L. J. Czapkay. I told him of my circumstances, and of my inability to reward him for his services; regardless of which, however, he at once undertook my case, and with the blessing of God, I was once more restored to perfect health. Unable to reward him for the boon which I enjoy at present, and yet conscious of my indebtedness, I consider it due to myself and all afflicted, to make the case public, in order that those in need of medical advice may find a physician in whom every confidence can be placed.
